Limited Copyright Release
Terms of Agreement

The copyright law gives photographers the exclusive rights to the photographs they create. The original photographer is the only person allowed to make ANY additional copies of the photograph. This is stated in the Federal Copyright Laws. Quite honestly, this is how we make a living.

In the case of portrait photographs (in either prints or digital), Craig Schmidt Photography provides Limited Copyright Release as a condition of sale under the following guidelines:

You may use completed photographs, in their original form, in color or black & white, for such applications as business cards, ad layouts, newsletters, press releases, newspaper or trade journal columns or advertisements, business or personal website, or other similar mass media, without further compensation or notice to Craig Schmidt Photography. This copyright agreement is granted for a period of two (2) years from the original order date.

The above media may make copies of continuous toned prints in their original form for the purpose of screening, half-toning or display, in any quantity or distribution area, without further permission or compensation.

Whenever possible, including a photographer's credit line such as "Photo by Craig Schmidt" or "Craig Schmidt Photography" is appreciated. Since it's not appropriate many times, photo credit is therefore not required.

Further, this copyright release does NOT cover the making of additional copies of photographs, on photographic paper, for any reason. If you need additional originals for your files, contact our studio and we will make more copies for you, from the original file, in the same high quality you have come to expect from Craig Schmidt Photography.
